Message From the President

Spring 2019

Dear Alumni, Families and Friends:

This spring, Christian Brothers High School welcomed a Visiting Committee of professional educators assembled by the Western Catholic Educational Association (WCEA) as the final step in the accreditation process known as Ensuring Educational Excellence (E3). Over the course of the past two years, every teacher and staff member has been involved in the process of gathering and evaluating data in a self-study process focused on: Catholic Identity, School Organizational Standards, Teaching and Learning Standards, Student Support Standards and Material Stewardship Standards.

Using the plethora of data collected, the school's E3 Leadership Team then created an Action Plan for the next six years. During the visit, the committee visited classrooms, investigated the written evidence collected in the self-study, held interviews with the members of the school community and prepared a written report on its findings. The Visiting Committee also submits a recommendation of an Accreditation Status based upon factors relative to the school's successes and growth needs. The Visiting Committee's Final Report and its recommendation on our Accreditation Status are sent to the WCEA Commission. In May, the full WCEA Commission will read the report on our Accreditation Status and review the recommendation. They will then vote on our Accreditation Status.

While we do not yet "officially" know our status, we are optimistic that CB will again earn accreditation. This process affirms that our faculty and staff are excellent ministers of our Lasallian Catholic mission. Our dedication to educating the whole child includes outstanding programs in the arts and athletics, as well as unique opportunities for meaningful community service and expressing our faith. Clubs and co-curricular programs allow students to fully engage as valued members of our campus life. Our graduates are well prepared for the academic and social rigors of college. Enrollment is strong and our students are cared for and challenged. Financially, we are healthy and debt free. And, thanks to the generosity of our alumni, families and friends, we have excellent facilities and lead the region in need-based tuition assistance, providing $2.7 million to 405 deserving young men and women.

As the Visiting Team concluded their time with us, they addressed the faculty, staff and administration to share their thoughts on the visit. I was struck by one of the members who summed it up quite succinctly when he said, "Your kids love this place and so do you."

We love Christian Brothers and are so blessed to carry on the legacy of St. John Baptist de La Salle in Sacramento. Thank you for your continued partnership and support. Our commitment to growing in faith and educational innovation is as strong today as it was in the hearts and minds of the Brothers who took on the mantle of this transformative mission 300 years ago.

Live Jesus in our hearts!

LORCAN P. BARNES, PRESIDENT

"Our commitment to growing in faith and educational innovation is as strong today as it was in the hearts and minds of the Brothers who took on the mantle of this transformative mission 300 years ago."

Lasallians Worldwide Celebrate Jubilee Year

In 2019, Lasallians throughout the world are celebrating the Year of Lasallian Vocations. Pope Francis has declared a Jubilee Year to mark the 300th anniversary of St. John Baptist de La Salle's passing into eternal life and rejoice in the incredible legacy carried on by the Institute of the Brothers of the Christian Schools. At the time of his death on April 7, 1719, De La Salle not only left a network of quality schools throughout France, but a legacy of inspiring others how to teach and care for young people.

Today, the De La Salle Christian Brothers continue that legacy around the world – sponsoring approximately 1,000 institutions of learning in 80 countries serving more than 800,000 students – and have built upon their distinguished reputation for excellence in education.

LASALLIAN TRADITION

The Lasallian tradition of education dates back to 1680 when St. John Baptist de La Salle, a prominent French priest, founded the Institute of the Brothers of the Christian Schools "to give a human and Christian education to the young, especially the poor and working class." With great compassion, insight and vision, De La Salle emphasized that all people, especially the young, have an inherent dignity which comes from being created in the image of God. To him, education provided the means to develop this dignity for the well-being of each student as well as for the well-being of society.

De La Salle was an innovator in the development of teacher training programs that embraced both the art and science of teaching. He developed curriculum to meet and challenge the varying needs and abilities of every student, and was revolutionary in his insistence on education for all, regardless of their ability to pay.

A WORLDWIDE NETWORK OF MINISTRIES

Lasallian ministries currently serve in five global regions:

- PARC – Asia/Oceania (Pacific-Asia Regional Conference)
- RELAN – Lasallian Region of North America
- RELEM – Europe/Mediterranean (Région Lasallienne Européenne-Méditerranéenne)
- RELAF – Africa (Région Lasallienne Africano-Malgache)
- RELAL – Latin America (Region Latinoamericana Lasallista)

The Institute of the Brothers of the Christian Schools has been blessed with 13 Brother Saints (after the Founder), seven Saints among alumni and affiliated members of the Institute, 151 Blessed Brothers, 12 other Blesseds among our alumni and affiliates, and nine Venerable Brothers.

Christian Brothers High School is part of RELAN which encompasses the United States and Canada, and contains four Districts: District of Eastern North America, District of Francophone Canada, District of the Midwest, and District of San Francisco New Orleans. The Region contains a network of seven colleges, 53 high schools, 19 middle schools, and three elementary schools, as well as a number of youth care facilities, residential and day treatment programs for special educational and behavioral needs, retreat centers, after school programs and summer camps. The Region's headquarters, Christian Brothers Conference, is located in Washington, D.C.

The District of San Francisco New Orleans was established on July 1, 2014. It was created by combining the legacy Districts of San Francisco and New Orleans-Santa Fe, which between them have provided nearly 250 years of continuous ministry through their schools and other educational works. Today's District includes 24 apostolates in eight states and Tijuana, Mexico, where over 115 Brothers and 2,000 Lasallian Partners serve more than 21,000 students. The District's headquarters, De La Salle Institute, is located in Napa, California, with a second office located in Covington, Louisiana.

REGIONS OF THE INSTITUTE OF THE BROTHERS OF THE CHRISTIAN SCHOOLS

- PARC: Asia/Oceania (Pacific-Asia Regional Conference)
- RELAF: Africa (Région Lasallienne Africano-Malgache)
- RELAL: Latin America (Region Latinoamericana Lasallista)
- RELAN: North America (Région Lasallienne de l'Amérique du Nord)
- RELEM: Europe/Mediterranean (Région Lasallienne Européenne-Méditerranéenne)

To commemorate the Jubilee Year and 150 years in California, the District of San Francisco New Orleans commissioned a unique work of art which has traveled to and been displayed at Lasallian schools across the U.S. this academic year. The painting, by Oakland artist Bill Weber, depicts figures significant to the spiritual and historical heritage of the District of San Francisco New Orleans (SFNO).

Christian Brothers High School had the art piece on campus from October 29 through November 16, 2018.

The top three images represent the two major District Anniversaries, featuring:

- St. Paul, representing St. Paul's School in Covington, LA which the Brothers assumed responsibility for in 1918
- Our Lady of the Star (an Institute Patroness), representing St. Mary's College of California which the Brothers assumed responsibility for in San Francisco in 1868
- St. Peter, representing St. Peter's College, opened by the Brothers in New Iberia, LA in 1918

The middle row of Brothers are four of the first Brothers Saints:

- San Miguel Febres Cordero: He was beatified October 30, 1977 and canonized October 21, 1984. His feast day is February 9.
- St. John Baptist de La Salle: He was born in Reims, France April 30, 1651, ordained priest April 9, 1678, and died April 7, 1719. He was beatified February 19, 1888 and canonized on May 24, 1900. He was proclaimed Patron of Christian Teachers May 15, 1950. His feast day is April 7, but most Lasallians celebrate him on May 15.
- St. Mutien-Marie Wiaux: He was beatified October 30, 1977 and canonized December 10, 1989. His feast day is January 30.
- St. Benilde Romancon: He was beatified April 4, 1948 and canonized October 29, 1967. His feast day is August 13.

The two Brothers at the bottom are the “founders” of the District entities that are being celebrated and still operated by the Brothers:

- Br. Nilammon Laurent, the first Director at St. Paul's School
- Br. Justin McMahon, the first Director of St. Mary's College of California

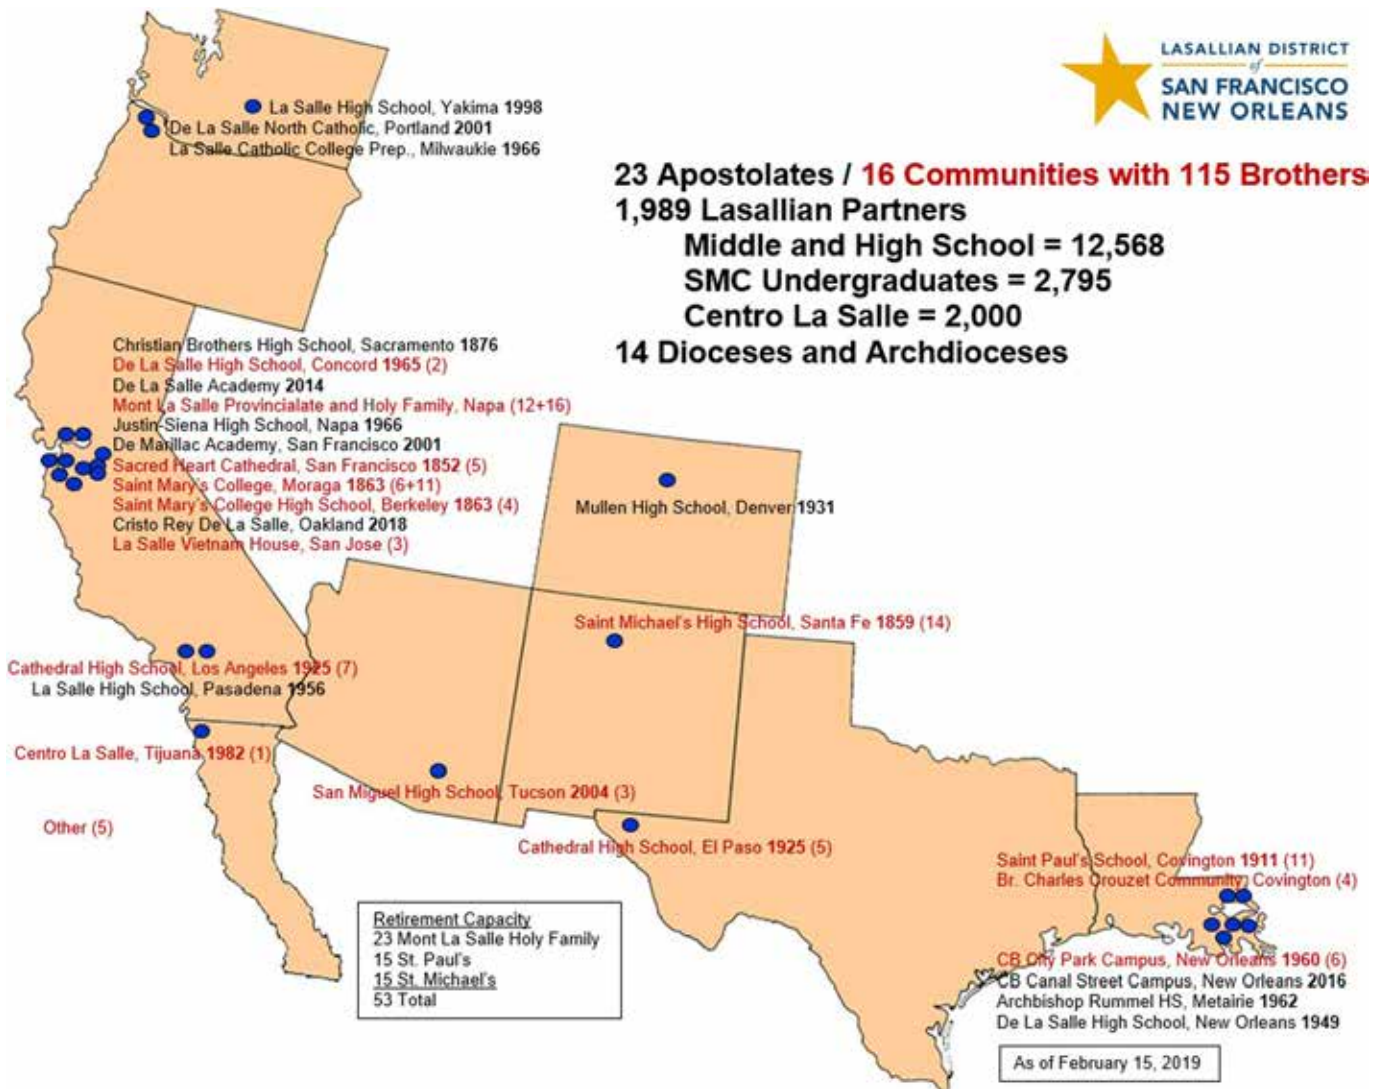

The other components of the piece are all historically significant:

- The four circles hold relics of the four Brother Saints depicted.
- The metal cross in the center is made of two nails welded together that were taken from the ruins of the fire that destroyed Dixon Hall, the centerpiece building on the original campus of St. Paul's School. One of the Brothers gathered up the nails to reuse them but eventually they were made into crosses.
- The framing of the piece is made of the legs of an altar that is from the Brothers' former community at “Magnolia” in Lafayette, LA. The altar had been made by Br. Ephrem Hebert, and the use of the wood in this piece is a tribute to his handiwork on behalf of the community of retired Brothers who lived there.
- The wooden cross is an end piece of an original cross (circa 1872) that was on the building at Martinez, the novitiate of the Brothers before they moved, with the cross, to Mont La Salle in Napa, CA in 1932.

“The Institute and District encouraged all of the schools to commemorate the Jubilee Year in ways that are meaningful within each unique community,” says CB President Lorcan Barnes. “In Sacramento, we displayed the anniversary artwork during a student liturgy and on campus, Religious Studies classes focused on the Founder’s remarkable legacy. The school’s Christian Service team organized a week of service that began with a community liturgy on Sunday, April 7. Throughout the week students engaged in a variety of service endeavors including letter writing to active military and veterans, assembling backpacks for students in need, preparing lunches and blessing bags for the homeless, raising money for our twin school, St. John Baptist de La Salle School in Ethiopia, and painting murals at the Bishop Gallegos Maternity Home. A highlight of every school year is, of course, our St. La Salle Liturgy followed by the Founder’s Day celebration in May.”

THE LEGACY LIVES ON

To ensure that the school's Lasallian Catholic identity remains strong, the District of San Francisco New Orleans has invested extensive human and financial resources over the last 25 years to provide Lasallian formation opportunities to trustees, faculty and staff. Sacramento's campus community includes a number of Lasallian Leadership Institute and Buttimer Institute of Lasallian Studies graduates who have benefitted from these multi-year training programs. Other faculty members and staff have participated in Lasallian service workshops and immersion activities nationally and abroad.

"After 300 years, the spirit of St. John Baptist de La Salle continues to touch the hearts of young people," says Barnes. "It is incredible to think of the countless lives that have been transformed, and are yet to be transformed, because of one man's abiding faith, courage and open heart. With one heart, one commitment and one life, we celebrate this incredible legacy and are honored to carry forth our shared Lasallian Catholic educational mission in Sacramento for what we hope will be another 300 years."

“Let us joyfully celebrate the Jubilee Year as an expression of our commitment to live the gospel and the Lasallian mission with one heart, one commitment, one life.”

John Wiley Named Head Football Coach

Christian Brothers High School is pleased to announce that John Wiley has been selected to lead its football program as varsity head coach. Wiley's extensive experience includes playing for Auburn University, the Chicago Bears and the Canadian Football League's Sacramento Gold Miners. His coaching experience includes stints at Sacramento State University, Christian Brothers High School, Davis High School and, most recently, Cosumnes Oaks High School.

Wiley takes over for Tyler Almond who accepted a position at Dixie State University in Utah. "I know how hard it was for Tyler to leave this program," says Wiley. "Christian Brothers is really the dream job for a coach. The players and families are phenomenal. I'm excited to return to the program and get to work building on the success and rich tradition of Christian Brothers High School football."

"John served CB as a coach, assistant athletic director and teacher for twelve years," says Dale Milton, athletic director. "He brings a deep understanding of our Lasallian charism, a wealth of football knowledge and an unwavering commitment to developing young adults of character. I'm thrilled to have him back. The future looks bright for Falcon football."

Introducing Head Basketball Coach Alton Seyford

Al Seyford has been selected to lead CB's basketball program as varsity head coach. Seyford's experience includes coaching stints at Sierra College, Kennedy, Sheldon and Jesuit High Schools, and serving as an advanced scout for the Cleveland Cavaliers. He joined the CB coaching staff in 2017 while also heading up an AAU program.

"I look forward to building a program that develops and challenges its players on the court in the same way that they are developed and challenged in the classroom," says Seyford. "It is an honor and privilege to serve as head basketball coach and I am thankful to the administration and everyone involved in the search process. I look forward to working with our wonderful student-athletes and representing the Christian Brothers community."

"Al served CB as an assistant coach for these past two years and has tremendous understanding of, and enthusiasm for, the game of basketball," says Dale Milton, athletic director. As a graduate of St. Mary's College of California, he understands our Lasallian charism and the school's emphasis on integrity, honor and excellence. I'm pleased that he will be leading the program."

Students Shine at National Student Television Network Convention

In March, 39 CB students attended the Student Television Network (STN) Convention, a four-day gathering of media programs from across the nation. The team explored this year's host city, Seattle, Washington, where they took in some iconic sights before getting down to business and preparing for 10 competitions.

KBFT continued its annual streak of success. Congratulations to Talon Talk creator, Jack Milliken '19, who single-handedly produced, wrote, recorded and edited a five-minute podcast on the local Seattle rap scene, taking home second place in the podcasting category. What makes this win especially impressive is that this was supposed to be a team competition with up to six students per school competing.

CB's Actors Were "Singin' in the Rain"

CB's actors were "Singin' in the Rain" as they brought the classic musical romantic comedy to life at the George Cunningham '40 Performing Arts Center for the school's fall musical. Months of hard work paid off as the 28-member cast sang and tap danced through the show's exuberant dance numbers for what made an outstanding two weeks of performances.

Spreading Holiday Cheer

CB's spirited singers and musicians brought sounds of the Christmas season to the George Cunningham '40 Performing Arts Center at the annual Christmas Choral Concert and Christmas Instrumental Concert.

Christian Brothers Theatre Showcase

CB had a full slate of talented theatre students at the Lenaea High School Theatre Festival at Folsom Lake College in February. Owen Larson '20 earned a gold award for his monologue and a silver award for his song. The group brought their performances back to Christian Brothers for a CB Theatre Showcase including monologues, songs, duet scenes and Nick Maricle '19's original one act play, "Shattered Glass."

Take Me Out to the Ballgame Family Dance

The "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" Family Dance on February 2 at Christian Brothers knocked it out of the park! From the Sacramento Kings to the San Francisco Giants, students and their families donned their favorite athletic teams' jerseys for an evening of sports-filled fun.

Guests enjoyed delicious desserts from Ettore's Bakery & Café and Freeport Bakery, and danced the night away with DJ Beau (Beau Paulsen '16). Proceeds from the dance benefited our sister school, St. John Baptist de La Salle School in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

ACADEMIC DECATHLON

The results are in! In February, CB's Academic Decathlon team competed against 28 teams in the 2019 Sacramento County Academic Decathlon. The students dedicated months of studying and competed in 10 categories, ranging from economics to music. The CB team won most improved team and placed fifth overall. Six students earned individual medals for their outstanding achievements.

CB Community Builds for Unity

Engineering students and faculty took the Christian Brothers "Enter to learn, leave to serve" motto to heart as they spent a Saturday in March taking part in Habitat for Humanity of Greater Sacramento's Build for Unity project. The project aims to bring people of different backgrounds and faiths together to build unity and homes for hardworking, low-income families in our community. With their service, sweat and industrious ditch digging, the Falcons helped start the foundations on three homes. Thank you to Laine Himmelmann '06, director of development for Habitat for Humanity of Greater Sacramento, for the opportunity to participate in this wonderful event.

Falcon Robotics Team

In April, the CB robotics team competed at the MATE (Marine Advanced Technology Education) ROV regional competition at California State University Maritime Academy and took home a first place finish. The team of 14 also won Best Marketing Display and Best Engineering Presentation. Their vehicle featured a digital temperature sensor, all digital operating system, integrated claw controller, camera with 180 degrees range of motion, custom trout release and foolproof metal detection. Way to go, Falcons!

Falcon 5K 2019

It was a perfect day for running as Falcons, friends and family raced around William Land Park on Saturday, April 6 for the annual Falcon 5K. Attendees enjoyed a 3.1-mile run (or walk) as students and other spirited supporters cheered them on. A fun post-race party and awards ceremony followed.

Special thanks to Solis Financial Strategies Group for sponsoring the event as well as an in-kind contribution from Medic Ambulance. Christian Brothers transformed into the magical and faraway place of Morocco at the 2019 CB Auction on Saturday, March 16. Guests enjoyed the magic of Moroccan-themed hors d'oeuvres and libations in the Jack Witry Field House.

Attendees bid on fabulous silent auction items and packages through mobile bidding before and during the event. A delightful dinner and vibrant live auction followed in the Ron Limeberger '53 Gymnasium. Auctioneer Jake Parnell, along with master of ceremonies, Paul Robins, digital communication and design professor at William Jessup University and former FOX40 morning news anchor, kept the energy alive as they inspired generosity throughout the evening. Guests raised more than $450,000 for Christian Brothers' student programs, making this the most successful auction in CB history. This year's Fund-A-Project bidding raised $130,000 in support of tuition assistance and $8,000 toward the purchase of a new van. A highlight of the evening was a beautiful performance by Ana Riley-Portal '19, New York University-bound, to close out the evening's festivities.

"The auction would not have been possible without the help of our amazing volunteers who generously put in time and hard work to make this evening a success," says CB President Lorcan Barnes. "I sincerely thank Joanne McShane, director of parent engagement, Lisa Travis, two-time auction chair, Gina Ketcher, auction co-chair, and Nancy Smith-Fagan, director of advancement, for their ongoing dedication to the mission of Christian Brothers High School."

SECURING THE FUTURE CAMPAIGN

In the fall of 2017, President Lorcan Barnes publicly announced that Christian Brothers High School had embarked upon the Securing the Future Campaign, a bold endeavor focused on raising $11.8 million to construct a synthetic turf field and all-weather track, grow the endowment and improve campus infrastructure. To date, alumni, families and friends have committed an impressive $9.3 million in gifts and pledges.

A NEW VISION

CB exists to provide an excellent Lasallian Catholic education that inspires and empowers young men and women while preparing them for success in college and life. In strategically planning for the future, school leaders began working on creating a new 15-year campus master plan during the 2013-14 academic year and consulted with community stakeholders and architectural and building professionals. From this process, school leaders identified the following priorities for the next few years:

- Improved athletic facilities
- Endowment growth
- Improved parking

ATHLETIC PROGRAMS

Education at Christian Brothers extends beyond the classrooms into the athletic arena. From early on, the school's athletic programs provided students with life lessons in leadership, teamwork and perseverance – all skills crucial to success in college and the workplace. This year, more than 700 of the school's 1,156 students will have participated in one or more of the school's 27 sports.

In its current state, the school's athletic fields do not meet the needs of its physical education classes and student-athletes. Nor are CB's outdoor athletic facilities comparable to facilities at other schools. Because turf grass managers recommend against using a natural field for more than 20 – 24 hours per week, practice time for CB's athletes, and opportunities for sharing facilities with CB's physical education classes, junior programs and Catholic elementary schools are quite limited. "An all-weather turf field will make an incredible difference,” says Dale Milton, athletic director. “Team access to fields will improve dramatically and players will be able to practice on the type of surface they will compete on. Our Track and Field athletes will be able to enjoy a home field advantage which is something they haven’t been able to do for years. Further, CB has some of the fastest runners in the state. They deserve a track that allows them to develop and showcase their talents.”

GROWING THE ENDOWMENT

An essential component of the Lasallian mission is its insistence on education for all, regardless of their ability to pay. The District of San Francisco New Orleans places a priority on service to the poor and emphasizes outreach to the most socioeconomically disadvantaged in our community. CB proudly leads the region in tuition assistance. More than seven percent of our families live below the federal poverty level. This year, 405 students received $2.7 million in need-based financial aid. Of that amount, approximately $425,000 comes from endowment earnings. Growing the endowment allows for continued support and growth in the tuition assistance program.

INFRASTRUCTURE IMPROVEMENTS

As enrollment has grown to 1,156 today, so has the need for improved parking. Programs like Junior Falcons Football & Cheer, Diocesan and middle school events help strengthen community outreach and long-term enrollment, but also place extra demands on limited parking facilities. CB needs to ensure a more efficient traffic flow and greater parking capacity. Further, from a safety and good-neighbor perspective, ensuring that students and visitors have adequate on-campus parking alleviates a need for parking on the surrounding streets.

“We want generations of young people to benefit from Lasallian Catholic education for years to come,” says CB President Lorcan Barnes. “Ensuring that programs and facilities are in place to attract families and effectively serve students is critical to securing the future of Christian Brothers High School. The Securing the Future Campaign is designed to help do just that.”

This spring, CB entered into a long-term lease with Williams Memorial Church of God in Christ, the church adjacent to the school, to develop a shared parking lot on their land. This new strategy allows for earlier construction at a lower cost. Most importantly, this improves safety as our students won’t have to cross Martin Luther King, Jr. Blvd. to get to school as the original plans called for a lot across the street. Completion of the new parking lot is necessary before construction can begin on the new track and field.

HELP SECURE THE FUTURE

An innovator in education, St. John Baptist de La Salle recognized the critical importance of meeting student needs. As such, our Lasallian mission calls us to continually ask the question, “What do students need?” Moving forward, this bold new vision allows Christian Brothers’ students to thrive in a vibrant, first-class campus, with the best-available spiritual, academic and co-curricular education.

“Christian Brothers today is better than it has ever been,” says Securing the Future Campaign Chair, Willie Nolan ’69. “Enrollment and academics are strong. The athletic programs and the arts programs are thriving. Best of all, the steadfast commitment of the faculty, staff and administration to the Brothers’ Lasallian Catholic mission ensures that graduates are faith-filled global citizens poised to succeed in college and inspired to make a difference in the world. This campaign really does secure the future of this sacred place and I hope everyone will get involved.”

“Christian Brothers is such a special place,” says Securing the Future Campaign Advance Gifts Chair, Steve Mahaney ’69. “In order for it to thrive, we need people to step forward and contribute, knowing that it will make a big impact on the lives of generations of students.”

CB is the place to be...even from the South Pole!

CB alumni parent Dr. John Rose (Samuel '11 & Michael '13) went above and beyond to show his CB pride. Rose, who served as the primary physician at the United States Antarctic Program National Science Foundation's South Pole Station for several months, enlisted the support of a brave coworker, Jamie Hensel, FNP, and ventured out in -45° F with a wind chill factor of -72° F and winds at 25 knots to capture this phenomenal picture at the South Pole.

Sutter Club Features CB History

Christian Brothers' rich history was on display at the Sutter Club in Sacramento throughout January and February thanks to the work of Jerry Kirrene '53 and Eilleen Le '12. The Sutter Club's theme for 2019 is education in the Sacramento area, particularly schools over 100 years old. As the oldest continuously operating school in Sacramento, we were honored to kick off this theme year with a display highlighting our 143-year history serving the Sacramento region. A special thank you to David Macko '92 for his assistance in making this happen.

A Race Around the World

BY: SARAH SLAKEY COLWELL '99

Seven marathons. Seven continents. Seven consecutive days.

Christian Brothers alumnus Eric Tozer '02 accomplished this amazing feat this past February, making him the first person on earth to successfully complete back-to-back marathons on every continent on the planet in a week's time while managing Type 1 Diabetes.

Called the World Marathon Challenge, this race literally spans the globe and is only attempted by some of the world's most elite athletes. Tozer, who to this day considers himself more of a soccer player than a runner, pursued this ambitious race for the nonprofit he co-founded, Diabetes Sports Project, as a way to bring awareness to Type 1 diabetes and inspire the 1.25 million people who have the disease in the U.S.

He's the Type

When most people think about diabetes, they think about Type 2 diabetes, a chronic condition that affects 30.3 million people in the U.S. that is caused by excess sugar in the blood. Type 1 diabetes, which represents about five percent of the diabetes population, is a chronic and incurable disease in which the pancreas produces little or no insulin.

Tozer was diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes in 2006 while visiting Germany to watch the World Cup. Despite enjoying his fill of German fare and beverages, Tozer lost 20 pounds in a two-week period on an already slender frame. He also experienced constant thirst, increased appetite, frequent urination, blurred vision and lethargy – all of which, unbeknownst to him at the time, are classic symptoms of diabetes. Upon returning home, Tozer visited his doctor and learned the devastating and life-changing diagnosis.

"It was a bit of a shock, especially since I have no family history of it," said Tozer. "But, because of my sports upbringing, I soon thought, I'm not going to let this thing dictate what I can and can't do. I was determined to make it fit into the life I wanted to live."

A Relentless Disease

To manage his own diabetes, Tozer has to monitor his blood sugar levels day and night to avoid potentially life-threatening results. He must take two medications every day and wear a glucose monitoring device that sends blood-sugar level readings to his phone every five minutes. He has to keep insulin pens and sugar packets with him wherever he goes.

Running a total of 183.4 miles in seven days combined with 30,000 miles of air travel across multiple time zones took his diabetes management to a whole other level – one that neither he nor his doctor, who is one of the top endocrinologists in the world, knew what to expect.

Tozer, already an avid runner, trained for six months to prepare. Blood sugar monitoring was just as important of a part of his training regimen as were hill climbing and mile split times.

The key for Tozer was to manage his “carbohydrate cadence,” he said. Namely, he needed to give his body the same number of carbohydrates that he was burning up to maintain healthy blood sugar levels, which was about 55 grams of carbs for every hour he was running.

“So that was the plan,” Tozer said, “But, as they say, the plan is the plan until you get punched in the face.”

Kind of Crazy

Sports have been a part of Tozer’s life for as long as he can remember. He played midfield for the men’s soccer team at CB and, in college, he helped take UC Santa Cruz to the NCAA championship tournament. Through his nonprofit, Diabetes Sports Project, he has completed several triathlons, including an Iron Man, and was part of a 10-person team that ran 3,000 miles across the United States in 15 days.

However, when a friend told Tozer about the World Marathon Challenge and suggested he attempt it, the CB alumnus thought the idea was ridiculous.

“I literally laughed,” said Tozer, whose primary job is a senior sales executive for a health care IT company. “I had only run three marathons ever. So the idea of doing that many marathons back-to-back was kind of crazy.”

Then, about a year later, Tozer was looking to do something on a grand and as global a scale as possible to raise awareness for Type 1 diabetes. The World Marathon Challenge came back into his mind.

“I wanted to do something that was seemingly impossible,” he said. “I wanted people to say, ‘I didn’t think anyone could do this, much less someone who has Type 1 diabetes.’”

Antarctica

The race started in Antarctica. There were 40 runners at the starting line with Tozer. It was 12 degrees Fahrenheit but, with the wind-chill factor, it felt like negative 20 degrees.

Tozer had to wear special gear that could strike that perfect balance for his body core temperature. He needed to stay warm. However, if he were to sweat, the perspiration could freeze in an instant, causing hypothermia.

“Before the race I was excited, nervous, anxious, all of it. A bit of fear too. If I wasn’t anxious, then I think there would have been something wrong with me,” Tozer said with a laugh.

The track surface alternated between slushy snow and hard blue ice as it looped around the airplane runway, a hard terrain to prepare for when you live in the San Diego area, as Tozer does.

“It was like another planet,” Tozer said of running through the tundra. “It was dead silent, nothing to see but bright white everywhere. You could hear the cracking of ice under your feet as you ran. It was fascinating and kind of eerie.”

Tozer finished the first marathon in around four hours. He was so cold and exhausted he couldn’t eat.

Africa

Just a few hours after he finished the marathon in Antarctica, Tozer was touching down in Cape Town, South Africa for his next marathon. Not only was he operating on only four hours of sleep, the external temperature in Cape Town was 90 degrees, a 110-degree shift from his previous marathon’s location.

The race was on the waterfront where the Indian and Atlantic Oceans meet with vistas of Table Mountain and Lion’s Head mountain on either end of the looping trail. The beautiful

“I wanted to do something that was seemingly impossible. I wanted people to say, ‘I didn’t think anyone could do this, much less someone who has Type 1 diabetes.’” scenery, however, was not enough to distract Tozer from the pain he was starting to feel in his feet.

"I thought I had a stress fracture in my foot because it hurt so bad from running on the hard surface," Tozer said.

Fortunately, Tozer was not injured and he finished the second marathon in a little over four hours.

Australia

Tozer then flew 17 hours to Perth, Australia. The race started at 11 p.m. and followed the Swan River, with windy conditions in both directions of the out-and-back course. Tozer finished around 2 or 3 a.m., with a group of about 50 Aussies cheering him along the way.

"There was no sense of time. We ate breakfast and dinner at all different times zones; we were racing at all hours of the night. It all rushed together," he said. "So I had to set a 24-hour timer on my watch to make sure I took my medicine at the right time every day. It was an interesting challenge."

Asia

For Tozer, the race in Dubai was memorable. He got to run on the boardwalk with iconic Dubai buildings in the skyline, including the world's tallest building, Burj Khalifa. The looping route allowed spectators to give high-fives and pats on the back to Tozer as he ran, which motivated him to go faster. His goal was to cut his mile time by three minutes for the last mile and a half, so he could finish the race under four hours. Tozer finished this fourth marathon in 3:59:30.

"My blood sugar was in check and steady, I didn't want to let the clock win so I pushed and pushed again," he described on social media to the thousands who were following him on his race. "Why not? Sure it hurt. But if we don't push ourselves, how can we expect to find out how far we can go?"

Europe

The marathon in Madrid, Spain was on an old Formula One raceway. According to Tozer, it was the most challenging course. It had hills that were so steep all the runners had to walk. Because the route was a loop, they had to conquer these hills 11 times, climbing a total of 1,200 feet throughout the race.

On this race, Tozer befriended and ran with an experienced endurance athlete from Ireland, Peter McGarry. The two shared stories as they ticked off miles and motivated each other along the way, finishing at identical times of 4:14:44.

"Something like this is more of a mental game than physical. The physical side is obvious, but the mental side is such a huge tool," he said.

"But people with Type 1, every day we have to overcome this very immense, demanding and challenging disease. Without even trying we become mentally stronger because of it. I saw that mental strength as my tool in this race."

South America

While Spain might have been the toughest course, Santiago, Chile was the hardest race, according to Tozer.

He was on marathon number six. The 100+ miles of running, the 50+ hours on airplanes, the lack of sleep and six days of airplane food – these took a toll on his body. Tozer had a hard time keeping food down and his feet, ankles and calves were painfully swollen.

"I fly a good amount for speaking events, so I was a little surprised that my feet got so swollen on these flights," said Tozer, who travels about three times a month to be a guest or keynote speaker at conferences around the world for his nonprofit. "The last thing you want when you are running so many marathons is to not have flexibility in your ankles, feet and lower legs. It was really painful. That was something I couldn't train or prepare for."

Despite having "cankles" and only being able to stomach two Cokes for his food source, Tozer finished his sixth marathon in just over four hours.

North America

Considering all he had endured during the week Tozer still said his last marathon in Miami was fun.

"My family, wife and daughters were there," said Tozer who married his high school sweetheart, Jen Hagen, a St. Francis alumna. "I get chills thinking about it. To be able to cross the finish line with them there, it was everything." Tozer did his fastest time in that race by half an hour, finishing in 3:33.

"...Every day we have to overcome this very immense, demanding and challenging disease. Without even trying we become mentally stronger because of it. I saw that mental strength as my tool in this race."

"I never felt alone on this race. I never doubted I would be able to finish either," Tozer said. "Not to be cocky or arrogant, but I was going to crawl across seven finish lines if I had to. There was no way I wasn't going to finish because I was doing this race for something so much bigger than me."

So what did this Christian Brothers alumnus do to celebrate successfully running seven marathons on seven continents in seven consecutive days? He flew back home to San Marcos, California and went with one of his daughters, Harper, to their first father-daughter dance.

"Eric is an incredible example of our motto, 'Enter to learn, leave to serve,'" says CB President Lorcan Barnes. "Raising awareness for Type 1 diabetes is admirable. However, doing so in what is probably the most physically grueling athletic challenge, while managing his blood sugar levels, is so inspiring to people living with Type 1 diabetes."

"There was no way I wasn't going to finish because I was doing this race for something so much bigger than me."

CB student-athlete Vincent Po'oi '20, who plays football and formerly played rugby, knows firsthand the challenges of managing Type 1 diabetes and playing sports.

"I have to step out of games to track my blood sugar. If I'm low, I've got to drink juice. If I'm high, I need insulin. I'm really amazed that he did this. Running a marathon is not something that most people can do and he ran seven in seven days while managing diabetes. That is crazy and it means a lot. It shows me that I can do anything I set my mind to!"
